

Hi, friends!

Today, we are going down!

Down, down, down into the sea!

We are going very deep.

Look, it is getting dark.

We are down here now.

It is as dark as night!

Who lives down here?

Look! A little light!

anglerfish

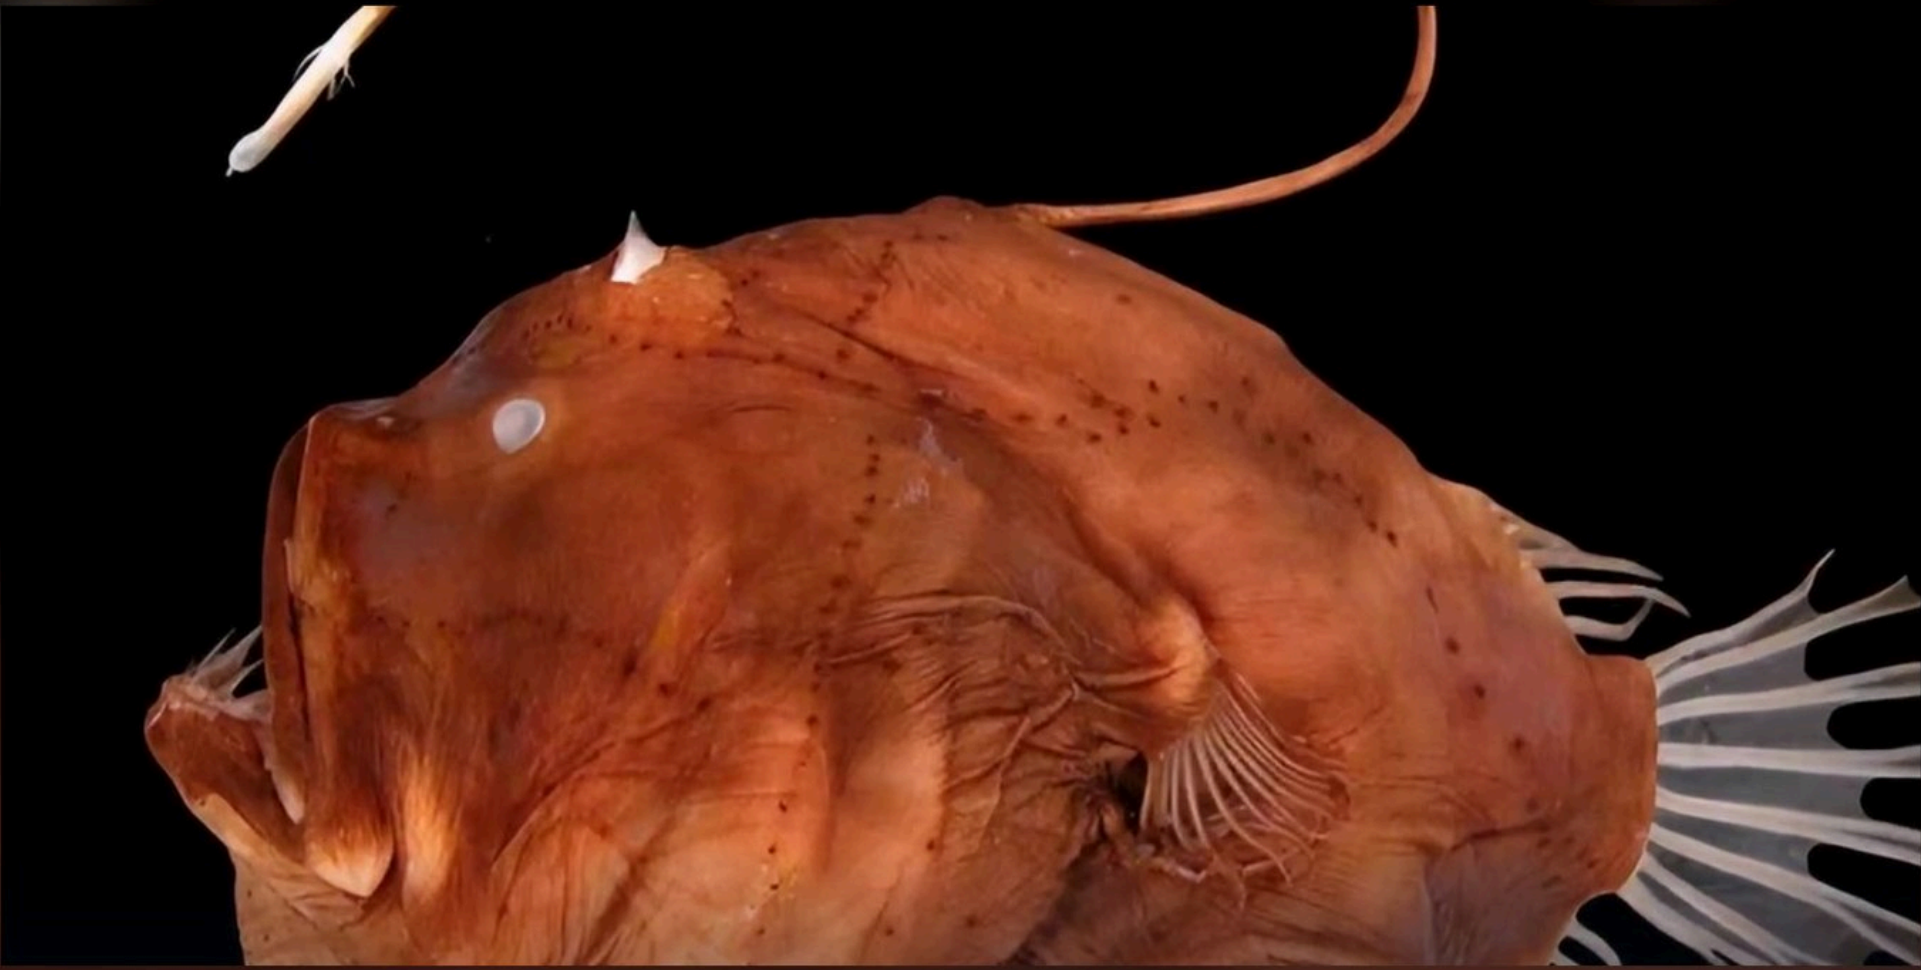

It is an anglerfish!

It lives deep in the sea.

It is very dark there.

Look at its head.

fishing rod

It has a fishing rod!

The rod is on its head.

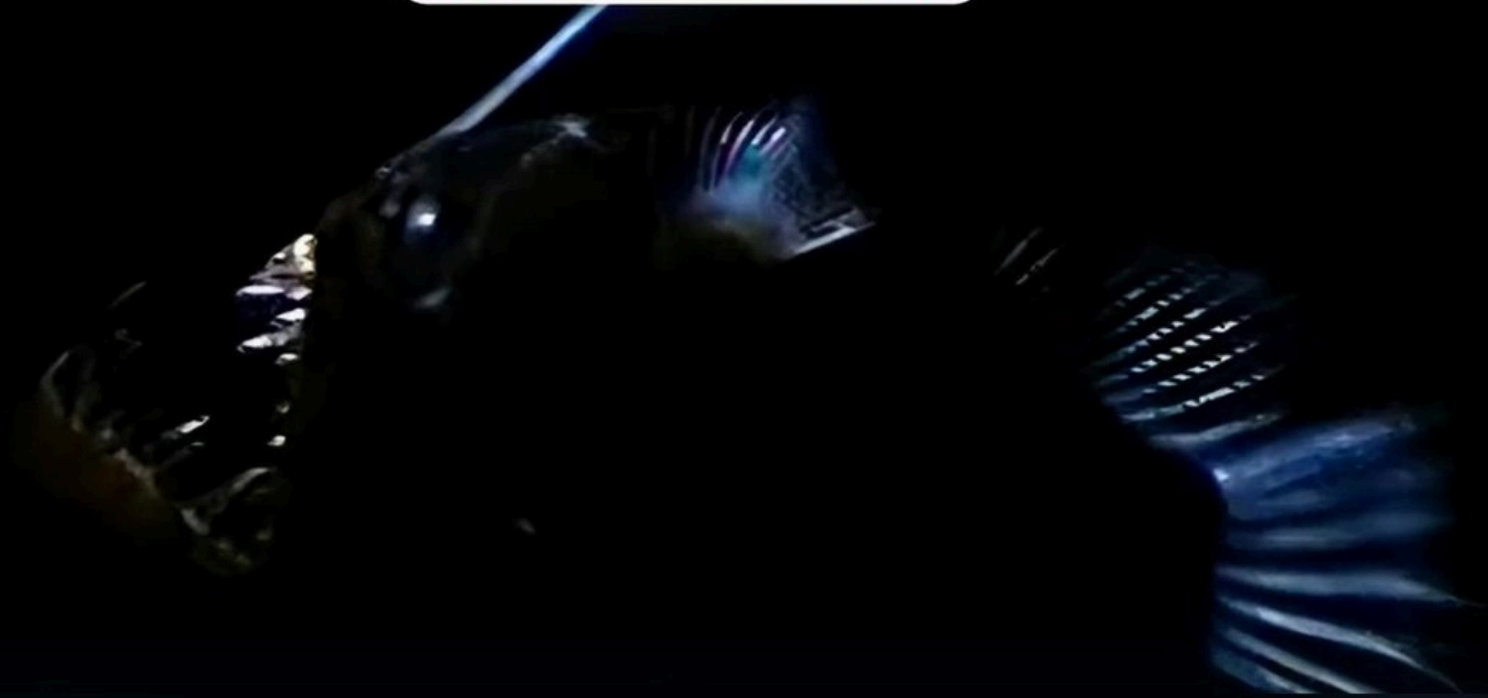

Look at the end.

There is a little light!

glowing

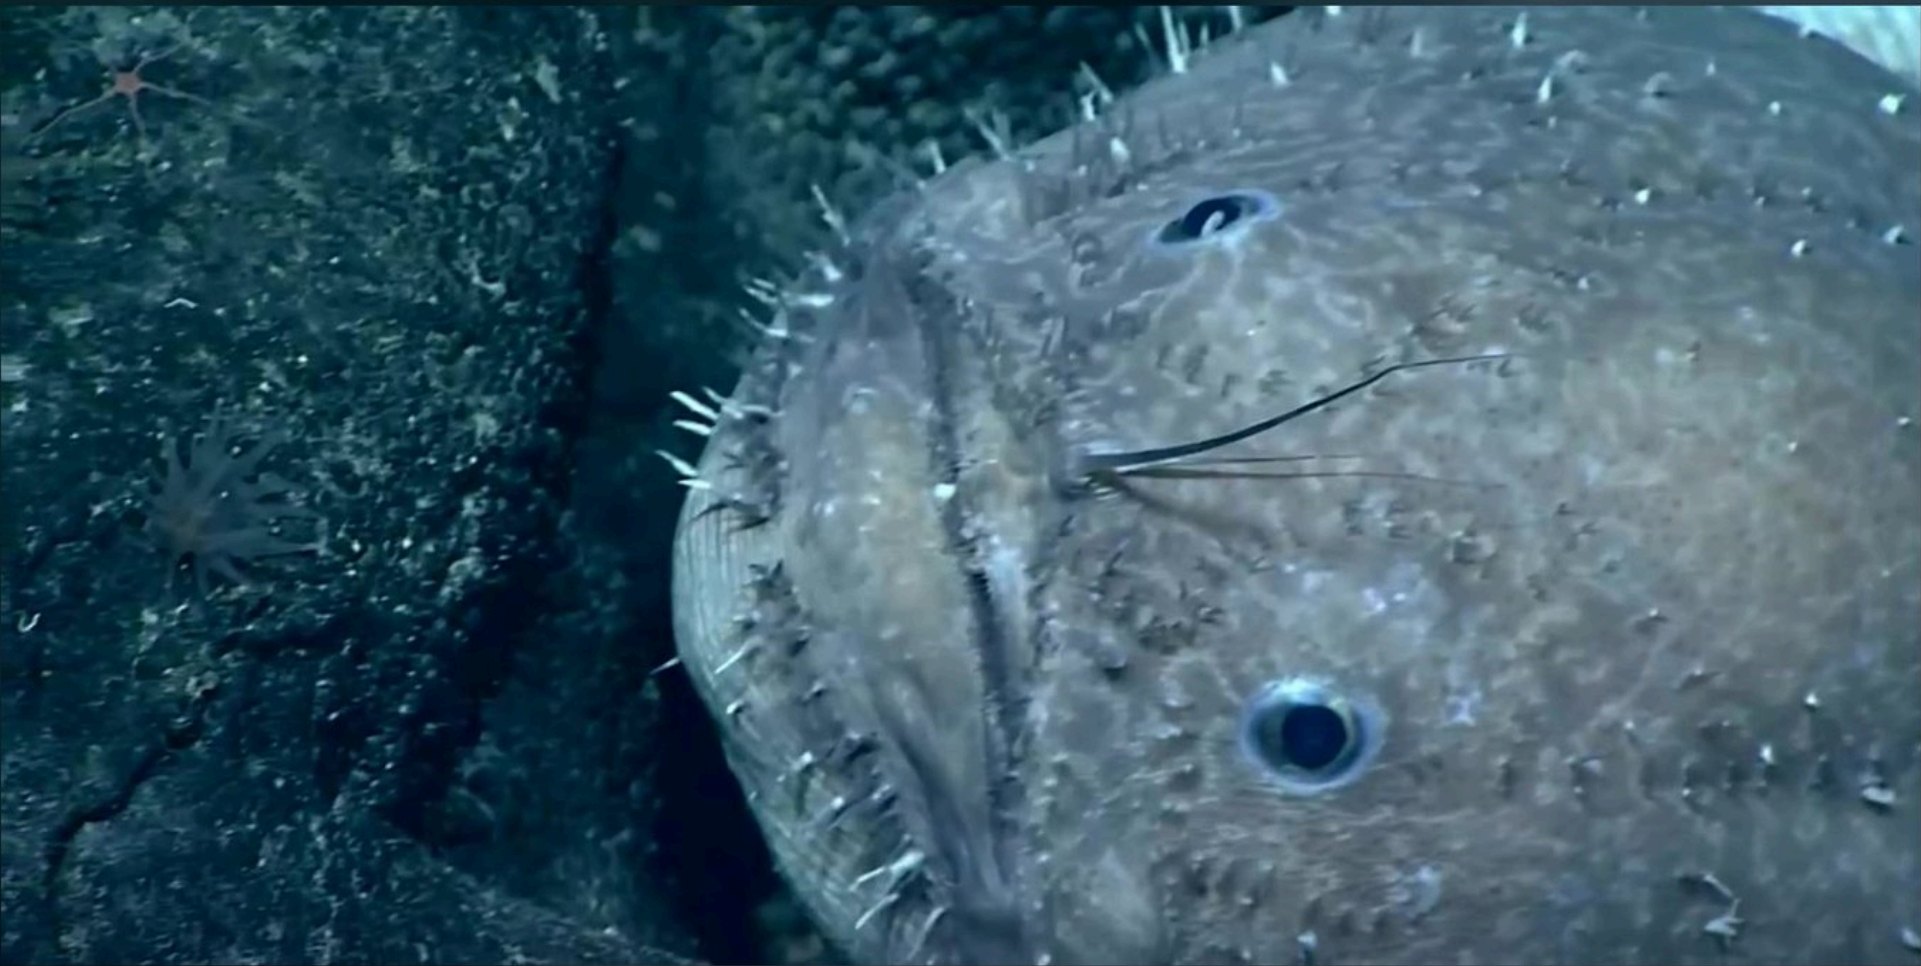

The light is glowing in the dark.

It is glowing like a little lamp.

Look, the anglerfish is waiting.

It is very, very still.

Here comes a small fish.

It swims to the light.

Closer and closer...

Gulp!

The anglerfish ate it in one bite!

Look at its mouth.

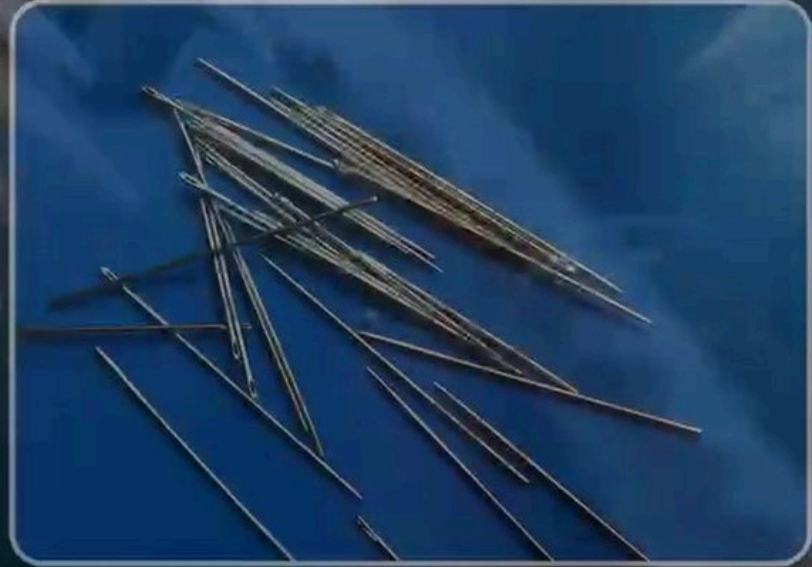

It is so big!

And look at its teeth!

They are long and sharp, like needles.

A fish cannot get out!

The anglerfish can eat big food.

Almost as big as itself!

Its tummy stretches, like a balloon!

Most anglerfish are small.

Look at your fist.

Many are about that big!

This one fits in a hand!

A few grow bigger than a football!

Let's say the new words!

Glowing!

A close-up photograph of a large, brown, textured fish head, possibly a catfish, with a fishing rod hook in its mouth. The fish has a rough, scaly texture and a large, open mouth. The background is dark. A red rectangular label with white text is positioned above the fish's head.

Great job!

Bye-bye, anglerfish!

Keep your light glowing!

See you next time!
